The "A" Rated Candidates tell you about their Faith

Here are several of the candidates on the November 7, 2017 election ballot who scored an "A" rating on the Survey of Conservative Christian Center. They weren't afraid to tell us what they believe. We also asked them for a statement of their faith. Here it is. We have already been criticized for asking these sort of questions. We appreciate their speaking out about faith rather than listen to the claims by the secular that some mythical "separation of church and state" somehow prohibits those in the public arena from speaking about their faith. God bless those who do speak out.

(Judge, Court of Common Pleas)(partial) In my view, religion provides an essential source of guidance about moral culpability for wrongful conduct. If elected to serve as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, I will take my spirituality along with me as a character trait. Fundamentally, my core values are knowing the difference between right and wrong, integrity, responsibility, accountability work ethic, self-determination and independent thinking.

(Recorder of Deeds) Jesus is my Lord and Savior. I feel led to run for this position as Recorder. He has guided me through this entire campaign. I believe "If God takes you to it," "He will take you through it." I believe in the Bible & the strength of prayer in my life. Fellowship of Believers. Christians in public office.

Judge Wade Kagerise

(State Supreme Court) I am a Christian and believe in God and Christ Jesus. I believe in living life by treating others as I would like to be treated.
